Furthermore, during these challenging times, our industrial hygiene professionals are ready and on-call to assist you with your COVID-19 concerns related to safely reopening businesses and managing potential outbreaks.

FROEHLING
& ROBERTSON

For decades, F&R has worked with developers and other project stakeholders such as architects and general contractors to address the unique set of individual goals and needs of their structures. As a result, F&R knows that the most successful commercial real estate projects are those that are staffed by professionals that are obsessively focused on solving problems and minimizing roadblocks. It is only through assembling the best team possible that our clients can realize their vision on time and on budget.

F&R is represented in CREW Richmond by members Alyssa Budlong and Stephanie Golembeski. For more information, contact Alyssa Budlong at (804) 264-2701 or at ABudlong@FandR.com.
